

What you said about our books ...

Recently, I borrowed a couple of text books on Alzheimers and Other dementias, and Vascular Dementia specifically. I used both extensively when making several diagnoses on patients I saw in clinic. An up to date text book is a useful source of the most recent collective thinking about a very specific topic.

I want to improve my knowledge in certain aspects of my care. I have borrowed books on Autism, sensory needs and recently books on Nurse Prescribing. I am developing my career in this area

We have used books from the library to facilitate reading groups with people who have reduced cognition, the library was able to supply books which met the needs of the group enabling engagement and enjoyment!!

Excellent resources for the Prescribing course which I was undertaking in Worcestershire Uni

To know the updates in the field of dementia care and also for referencing for my course work, the books I borrow from library are very helpful

To improve my clinical supervision and coaching skills

AN APPLE A DAY BY EMMA WOOLF - AN INFORMATIVE MEMOIR ON ANOREXIA WHICH GAVE A GOOD INSIGHT INTO LIVING WITH THE ILLNESS

Utilised a variety of books whilst working towards my MSc. The books and the support of the excellent library staff were key to my studies. Thank you.

Arts for Health use the library resources for our Reading for Wellbeing groups - story collections and poetry. It is a great resource and provides meaningful engagement with inpatients

As a student I had a limited budget to buy books, the library's collection helped me to borrow books that I had not been able to buy. Whilst talking to the librarian I mentioned a book the course tutor had recommended and although they did not have it at the time they bought the book which helped me and will help future students

We use the Transforming Healthcare (VM) book in our QI training, and always let participants know that it is available in the library

Thank you to everyone who filled in our Book Survey!

'Elizabeth is missing' - surprisingly enjoyable, reflective insight into dementia told from side of person experiencing it - hopefully made me more empathic towards people experiencing it
