

Guide to Finding Journals Using ‘My Journals’

About My Journals

My Journals provides details about:

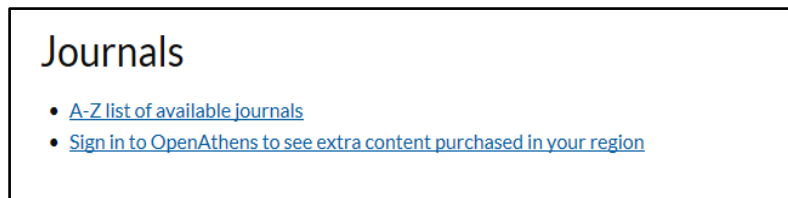

- Full text electronic journals available to NHS staff, whether purchased nationally, regionally or locally.
- Print journals held in your local library.
- If you have a reference or citation you can use that information to find that article within the journal you have found.
- It does not allow you to search for subjects or individual articles.

You need an NHS OpenAthens password to gain access to online resources available to you.

Contact library staff for assistance.

How to Access My Journals

- Go to NHS Evidence site <https://journals.nice.org.uk> or click ‘Access Journals’ on the Quick Links menu on the library website <http://library.sssft.nhs.uk/>

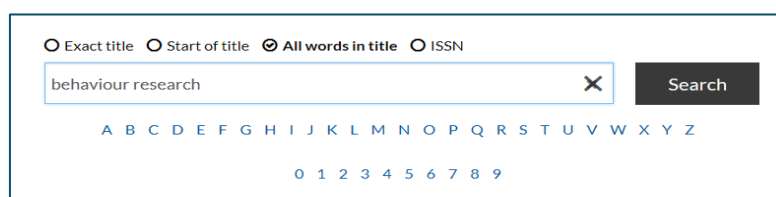

- Sign in using your OpenAthens username and password

How to Find a Journal Title

Title Search

Type key words from the journal title or topic area you are interested in and click on Search. Note you may need to check spellings of some words. For instance using ‘behaviour’ & ‘research’ as keywords will find ‘Behaviour research & therapy’ but not ‘Behavior research methods’.

You can also search for the exact title for journals such as ‘Psychiatry’.

OR Browse the Journal Title A-Z List

Click on the first letter of the journal title to display an alphabetical list of titles.

Journal Title Search Results Screen

The search results screen displays the journal titles retrieved by the search, with details of print and online availability, location and years held.

Click on the underlined text to open up a list of years available, select the right year & then the appropriate issue, then link to the full text online journal.

Journals are not always available direct from the publisher some are part of a package of journals produced by a third party, so do use the links provided here or through <http://www.athens.nhs.uk>.

Access to online full text is via OpenAthens unless a user name & password is given. You may need to click on a journal website link for OpenAthens login, but don't usually need to re-enter these details.

Where the print journal is held the link is to an online request form.

Please report any issues with access to library staff so that they can investigate.
